OVERVIEW OF WORLD MISSIONS MINISTRIES

PURPOSE

The primary purpose of World Missions Ministries (WMM) of the International Pentecostal Holiness Church is to fulfill the Great Commission of our Lord Jesus Christ. This includes the following goals:

- Proclamation of the gospel and conversion of the lost to Jesus Christ
- Planting indigenous churches
- Equipping spiritual leaders
- Incorporating indigenous churches into one worldwide fellowship
- Expanding the Pentecostal revival throughout the body of Christ
- Planting churches in urban centers of the world
- Reaching unreached people groups
- Encouraging and equipping local churches to become involved in World Missions

HISTORY OF WORLD MISSIONS MINISTRIES

Since its inception, the International Pentecostal Holiness Church has held World Missions as one of its highest priorities. We have always considered our Lord's Great Commission to "make disciples of all nations" a mandate for the church in any era.

At the consolidation meeting in Falcon, North Carolina, in 1911, the Pentecostal Holiness Church already had established works in China, India, and Africa. The denomination continued to send missionaries to these fields for the next two decades.

In 1913, at the newly-consolidated church’s Second General Convention in Toccoa, Georgia, the General Board of Administration assumed the responsibilities as the first General Missions Board. The church had 13 missionaries at the time, some of whom received partial support, while others received no regular support at all. They went with little more than the Word of God and faith in the power of the Holy Spirit. This is the caliber of people who laid a strong foundation for the missions initiatives of the Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Expansion came in the 1930s when PH missionaries entered Argentina and also opened an indigenous work in Mexico. The church targeted Hawaii and Alaska next by sending missionaries who soon planted churches on those frontiers.

The 1945 General Conference elected the church’s first Foreign Missions Board apart from the General Board of Administration. Within four years, a missionary staff of 37 worked in six countries.
The post war years of the 1950s brought even greater expansion. In Latin America, we moved into Costa Rica and Cuba. From South Africa, the work spread into Northern and Southern Rhodesia (now Zambia and Zimbabwe), Nyasaland (now Malawi), Nigeria, Mozambique, Ghana, and Botswana.

The rapid growth in Africa made closer supervision of the work necessary, so, in 1953, the church appointed a general supervisor for Africa. Until that time, our work in India had been concentrated in the north; however, a work was organized in South India in 1958.

The growth and expansion during the 1950s also made it necessary for World Missions Ministries to make some structural modifications. The first major change was the election of a full-time director. Having a person in place who would devote all his time to the advancement of missions seemed imperative; therefore, the 1961 General Conference voted to establish the office of full-time director. That same General Conference changed the name of the missions department from Foreign Missions to World Missions.

The 1965 General Conference added the new position of field representative to promote missions in the local churches in the United States. World Missions launched an official publication in 1966—World Missions Monthly—which continues today as one of the ministry’s primary means of getting missions information into the homes and hands of Pentecostal Holiness Church members and friends.

Two more important events took place abroad during the 1960s. The Argentina Conference was organized in 1965. Then in 1967, the Pentecostal Holiness Church and the Methodist Pentecostal Church of Chile signed an affiliation agreement.

Each year of the first quadrennium in the 1970s brought major advances in the church’s missions thrust. In 1970, World Missions launched its first School of Missions, which continues as an annual event for missionary candidates and missionaries on furlough.

Expansion came again with works established in Zaire, Kenya, and Korea. We re-entered Jamaica, and significant increases were reported on the continents of Africa, Asia, and Latin America.

A major restructuring of the administrative organization took effect in January 1973, when general supervisors were appointed for Asia and Latin America, in addition to Africa.

The initiation of two different training programs in the early 1970s greatly enhanced training for overseas nationals. Theological Education by Extension (TEE) and Advanced Ministers’ Seminars became a vital part of our missions training efforts.

On the home front, the ministry adopted two significant programs in 1973:
1. Short-term Overseas Workers (SOW) was designed to challenge dedicated Pentecostal Holiness college students to dedicate from three to twenty-four months serving on a mission field.

2. Lay Overseas Volunteer Evangels (LOVE), targeted skilled laity who wished to serve on the mission field as self-supported helpers of the missionary staff. The first LOVE worker, a retired government employee, served in Hong Kong.

At the end of the 1969-1973 quadrennium, an overseas membership of 42,706 represented a 43.8 percent (43.8%) increase over the previous four years. The largest number of missionaries (104) to date were serving the church.

By this time, promotion in the home churches had become a priority. In 1973, the first administrative assistant was appointed. (Since then, this title has been changed to “assistant director.”) In 1974, World mission appointed conference missions directors.

During the 1973-1976 quadrennium, the denominational headquarters transitioned from Franklin Springs, Georgia, to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. World Missions also made the move in 1974.

The report of the World Missions director at the 1977 General Conference noted that progress had been made on each of our overseas fields. New buildings had been constructed on various fields, the first TEE graduation had been held in South Africa, and the work had expanded to embrace a new country—the Philippines. During the four years, 175 new churches had been added, which was a 27.4 percent (27.4%) increase over the previous quadrennium.

By the end of the 1970s, the focus of World Missions Ministries had begun shifting to the cities of the world. The ministry had adopted a program called "Operation Antioch," which called for taking the gospel to world-class cities.

The 1980s became the decade of urban evangelism for the church. With work in 13 cities in 1979, we set a goal of planting strong churches in 50 of the major cities of the world by the end of the quadrennium. We reached that goal quickly and have since increased it to 125, and then to 200. The epicenter of this urban thrust was the Centre for International Christian Ministries (CICM) in London, England, which was opened in 1980. Here, experienced instructors trained national leaders, SOWers, and newly-appointed missionaries in urban ministry.

During the 1977-1981 quadrennium, missionaries entered six new fields: Haiti, Namibia, Venezuela, Israel, and Transkei; plus, we sent our first missionary to Europe. Although we had work in England for many years, our first missionary arrived in London in 1978. We also reorganized the work in Korea and reaffirmed an affiliation with the Methodist Pentecostal Church of Chile.
Following the 1981 General Conference, the GBA reappointed the Executive Director of World Missions for a second term. For the first time since the position became full-time in 1961, an Executive Director would be allowed to serve two consecutive terms of office. This extended tenure helped strengthen and stabilize World Missions Ministries by providing continuity in missions leadership and strategy.

During the 1981-1985 period, World Missions Ministries established a presence in Indonesia, France, Italy, and Malta. We signed an affiliation agreement with the Wesleyan Methodist Pentecostal Church of Brazil in 1983.

In December of 1983, the Pentecostal Holiness Church declared a renewed commitment to world evangelization by adopting a strategy for reaching one-tenth of one percent of the world’s population for Christ by the year 2000. At the 1985 General Conference, denominational leaders challenged the entire denomination to become involved in this TARGET 2000 thrust. Beginning with the 21st century, new goals were established and “Mission 21” replaced “Target 2000.”

The First World Conference of Pentecostal Holiness Churches convened in Jerusalem, Israel, in 1990. Leaders from various countries of the world came together as equals to worship, celebrate, give praise for what God was doing, and plan strategies to reach the Target 2000 goals. A Second World Conference assembled mid-decade in September 1995, once again in Jerusalem. A Third Conference convened in February 2002 in San Jose, Costa Rica, to celebrate what God was doing through the Pentecostal Holiness Church around the world. A fourth World Conference was held in Vancouver, BC Columbus in 2008.

A series of name changes reflected the church’s renewed focus on ministry and a shift away from a hierarchal model of authority to a network of assistance. In 1993, the title, “general supervisor,” was changed to “overseas ministry coordinator,” and the title, “field superintendent.” became “regional ministry coordinator.”

The entire denomination made the same shift in focus in 1994. “International Headquarters” became known as the “International Pentecostal Holiness Church Resource Development Center” (RDC). Again the name change emphasized a renewed emphasis on ministry with a focus on the local church.

Missions growth around the world accelerated. By the 1997 General Conference, the church had a ministry presence in 81 countries with a total worldwide membership, including affiliates, of 2.6 million.

As the 20th century closed, World Missions had experienced the greatest growth of its history with a 63 percent (63%) increase in the number of churches and a 103 percent (103%) increase in membership around the world since the end of the previous quadrennium. The Global Outreach Offering had increased by 51 percent (51%) over the previous four years, and the ministry’s total annual income had increased by 41 percent (41%). A missionary staff of 187 was now ministering in over 92 countries of the world with a total worldwide membership, including affiliates, of 3,410,890. One of the highlights of the 1997-2001 quadrennium was the building of relationships and establishing partnerships with para-church groups such as Evangel Bible Translators (EBT) and Accelerating International Missions Strategies (AIMS). Several mergers with groups in Ethiopia, Democratic Republic of Congo in Africa and Central America added hundreds of thousands of members.

The 21st century for World Missions began at the 2001 General Conference, where M. Donald Duncan was reelected Vice-Chairman of the denomination and Executive Director of World Missions Ministries. During that quadrennium, the ministry continued to expand around the globe.

At the 2005 General Conference in Oklahoma City, Dr. A. D. Beacham, Jr., was elected as the Executive Director. He served until July 2012, when he assumed the office of General Superintendent following the resignation of Bishop Ronald S. Carpenter, Sr., for health reasons. (Bishop Carpenter went to be with the Lord two months later in September of 2012.)

The Council of Bishops, in a special session in July 2012, elected Bishop J. Talmadge Gardner to complete Dr. Beacham’s term as Executive Director of World Missions Ministries. Then the delegation at the 2013 General Conference elected Bishop Gardner to continue serving as Executive Director.

At the end of 2012, World Missions reported 1,387,113 members in 9,175 churches outside the United States, not including affiliates.

DEPARTMENTAL MINISTRIES OF WORLD MISSIONS

MISSIONARIES
Missionaries are the frontline representatives for World Missions endeavors of the International Pentecostal Holiness Church. REQUIREMENTS FOR MISSIONARY APPOINTMENT

1. Member

2. Spirit-filled Life
   The first step in becoming a career mission is a life totally committed to God. All missionary candidates must be born again, sanctified, Spirit-filled Christians.

   The International Pentecostal Holiness Church holds that those who go to the mission field should have a definite, God-given call and gifting for this type of service. This calling should be demonstrated by a period of recognized effective ministry.

4. Bible College
   All career missionary candidates should have at least a Bible college degree or diploma, or its equivalent. Pursuing additional degrees and in-service courses is encouraged.

5. Ordination and Ministerial Experience
   Those who apply for career missionary status should have proven their ability to plant or pastor churches successfully before leaving the homeland. World Missions Ministries of the International Pentecostal Holiness Church, therefore, generally expects all candidates to be licensed and ordained by one of our conferences and to have had at least two years of experience in the ministry. For other assignments, such as Bible school teachers and workers in special programs, the candidate must have expertise in the area for which he applies.

6. Continuing Education Units
   All IPHC credentialed ministers must complete a total of 48 continuing education hours every two years (biennially)
Recognizing that the Bible commands ministers of the gospel to “Study to show [themselves] approved unto God…” (2 Timothy 2:15), the 1993 General Conference affirmed that all licensed and ordained ministers must participate in an annual continuing education program provided and approved by the General Conference.

The Continuing Education Program is an in-service training track designed for on-going professional development. It is not designed for college/graduate school academic credit.

PEOPLE TO PEOPLE MINISTRIES

People to People Ministries seeks to provide a platform of ministry for individuals, churches, and missionaries as we show acts of love to a hurting world. One out of every five children is at risk of suffering from malnutrition, disease, poverty, and spiritual separation from God. As we reach out with benevolence, lives are transformed and impacted with the gospel of Jesus Christ.

People to People covers eight areas of ministry:

1. Sponsor A Child
   Children around the world die at alarming rates because they lack basic necessities. Sponsors can provide a child with nutritious food, warm clothing, medical care, and education for less than a $1 a day through People to People Ministries. More information about the PTP Sponsor a Child Program is available at the following website: iphc.org/donations/people-to-people-children.

2. Feed the Hungry
   People to People feeds over 12,000 children weekly in over 54 countries around the world. The PTP Feed the Hungry ministry helps resource overseas churches to distribute food and show Christ’s love to some of the
3. Quench Thirst With Water Wells

Because of improper waste disposal, many water sources in developing countries are contaminated with parasites, chemicals, and other pollutants. These contaminants cause over 3.5 million deaths annually. Communities are forced to continue to ingest the tainted water because they have no other recourse. Funds donated to the Water Well Ministry are used to dig deep-water wells, which are protected from the harmful contaminants (iphc.org/donations/projects/quench-thirst-with-a-water-well [Project#09063P])

4. Respond To Overseas Disasters

When natural disasters strike, People to People acts quickly to raise awareness of the need and coordinates fundraising efforts. Through Disaster Relief, People to People is able to respond to the immediate need by providing food, shelter, and medical care to communities crippled by natural disasters. Coordinating with local missionaries, People to People assists in rebuilding devastated homes, churches, and schools, thus improving the communities’ overall infrastructure (iphc.org/donations/projects/disaster-relief [Project# 09055D])

5. Assistance With Medical Needs

Medical emergencies often arise in developing nations because so many of their citizens lack access to healthcare. Ministry of Medicine (MOM) helps supply urgent medical needs, resources for medical trips, life-saving vaccinations, and basic sanitation. Those who support this ministry help People to People provide immediate funds during a medical emergency—saving countless lives each year (iphc.org/donations/projects/ministry-of-medicine [Project#09149N])

6. Malaria Awareness

Half of the world’s population is at risk of Malaria. Every thirty seconds a child dies from this preventable and curable disease. Malaria Awareness is a ministry in countries where mosquitos transmit malaria. In Africa alone, Malaria causes the highest mortality rates for children under the age of 5 and pregnant women. The insects that carry Malaria often bite around 2 a.m.; therefore, something as simple as a mosquito net can save lives.

7. Christmas Spirit
People to People’s Christmas Spirit provides an additional opportunity for sponsors to bless children who are part of the sponsorship program. Donors are asked to contribute an extra $25 in December so children around the world can experience and celebrate the love of Jesus Christ. With the help of donors, People to People supplies gifts for over 6,000 children.

8. Launch Microbusinesses

By helping provide entrepreneurs with resources to launch small businesses, People to People enables individuals and communities to become more self-sufficient. Supplying people with the tools necessary to develop small businesses not only stimulates the local economy, it also helps foster entrepreneurial skills that will open doors of opportunity for generations to come (iphc.org/donations/projects/launch-a-microbusiness [Project#90147P])

GLOBAL OUTREACH

The annual Global Outreach (GO) offering focuses on expanding God’s Kingdom through world evangelization. For over 100 years, IPHC Ministries has been a strong missions force to the nations. In the 1950s, a world evangelization emphasis offering was established to address emerging opportunities and to meet financial needs on foreign fields. Numerous opportunities arose requiring additional financial support as the IPHC work developed. These included pioneering new fields, church planting, church growth, constructing and maintaining buildings, Bible schools, training centers, resourcing national missionaries, and countless other projects and areas of ministry. Today, similar opportunities and needs continue as new doors open in God’s Harvest Fields.

The GO offering provides immediate funds and offers an avenue for each local church to fulfill Jesus’ mandate (Acts 1:8). Our primary method of raising GO Offering funds is inviting each PH church member to contribute a “Day’s Wage.” This giving opportunity does two things:

1. It provides an avenue by which each person can have an active role in fulfilling the Great Commission
2. It offers a reasonable plan by which an individual can accumulate his Global Outreach contribution.
Global Outreach funds are distributed on a 75/25 percent basis: 75 percent is designated for World Missions Ministries. The remaining 25 percent provides a financial base for Evangelism USA to birth and strengthen works in the United States. This division of funds reflects an Acts 1:8 model of taking the gospel to Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and the utter-most parts of the world.

ITINERATION

All missionaries must raise their full budget before departure to the field. The purpose of the Itineration Office is to assist them in raising this support.

Missionaries who are raising their support are in two main categories: furloughing and itinerating. The Itineration Office helps coordinate the missionaries’ schedules with the Conference Missions Directors, pastors, local missions directors, and churches in their surrounding area. Training in fundraising methods, tracking itineration schedules, income and donor support are some of the services provided for missionaries through the Itineration Office. The goal is to help missionaries develop healthy accounts and strong relationships with their support base.

Itineration is a foundational part of World Missions Ministries and is crucial for all missionaries to maintain a fruitful ministry in their field of service.

COFFEE HOUSE MINISTRY

In today’s world, where unsaved people have little or no interest in attending a local church, other methods of communicating the gospel must be considered. Coffee House Ministry provides a non-threatening environment, and a time-out from pressing daily schedules and life’s demands. The value and strength of this method is that it provides opportunities for sharing the good news of Jesus Christ during the hustle and bustle of workdays in the marketplace.

The setting and atmosphere for personal involvement and witnessing comes together as Christian workers serve a cup of coffee in Jesus name. Over time, relationships are forged and guests begin sharing their hearts and needs. It is a natural way for speaking into lives and sharing hope in Christ. People hear the gospel for the first time, faith takes root, and lost souls are saved.

Locations, depending on demographics and ministry strategies, offer diversity and include features such as Wi-Fi connection and entertainment through media sources, live Christian music, evening gatherings, special events, teaching English as a second language, tutoring, spiritual counseling, and prayer for anyone in need. A listening ear often creates an opportunity to share the love of God.
The value of this strategy in evangelism and church planting has been proven over the years. In some settings, a coffee house will open and close, accomplishing its purpose in a short time. Others remain open for years. Since Coffee House Ministry’s beginning in the early 1980s, 45 locations have been opened, providing growth for local congregations and at least 20 church plants.

Applications for coffee house projects are submitted to Regional and Continental Directors for their approval. When approved by Continental Director, application forms are forwarded to the Director of Coffee House Ministry. Final approval is based on available funds and/or fundraising possibilities. All coffee house projects are approved for a 12-month period and are evaluated annually for continued support.

Application forms available from Coffee House Ministry:
1) Financial Request Form
2) Strategy Form

TEAM EVANGELISM AND MISSION SERVICE (TEAMS)

Team Evangelism and Mission Service (TEAMS) helps coordinate and track all IPHC short-term mission teams from the United States. These trips allow people to participate in hands-on ministry in another country.

Short-term Mission Teams consist of people with diverse skills to meet needs on the mission field. The most prevalent types of Teams include:

1. Construction
2. Feeding programs
3. Children’s outreach
4. Medical services

NATIONAL CHURCH MINISTRIES

NATIONAL MISSIONARY

A national missionary is a God-called minister from a country other than the United States or Canada who desires to go to a country other than his own as a missionary. The national missionary position in World Mission Ministries is for those who meet the following criteria:

1. Approved as a missionary by the Conference Council or Missions Council of his country
2. Approved by the Regional and Continental Directors of World Missions Ministries in both the sending and receiving countries
3. Cosponsored by his country and World Missions Ministries on a percentage scale agreed upon by the Regional and Continental Directors and the national leadership
4. Agrees to work under the World Missions leadership of the receiving country with a job description developed by appropriate leadership on the field
5. Approved by the Executive Director of World Missions Ministries
6. Funding will come from the Continental Director’s budget.

INDIGENOUS CHURCHES

A goal of World Missions Ministries is to send missionaries to plant indigenous Congregations. The end result will be self-supporting, self-governing and self-propagating churches.

In the process, it may be necessary for a missionary to serve as pastor for a limited time. During the period when a missionary is serving as pastor of an indigenous congregation, a strategy should be developed to move national leadership into place with goals and time limits. Serving as pastor should not be the end result, but rather for a period of time while national leaders are trained and established.

Missionaries work alongside nationals to make this a reality. God has given excellent national leaders to IPHC churches overseas. Many serve as evangelists, pastors, Bible school teachers, conference superintendents, etc.
MINISTERIAL TRAINING

Even in a comparatively new indigenous congregation, God has gifted and ordained individuals who, with the proper training, can effectively assume leadership roles. One of the missionary’s primary tasks is to discover, train, and release those people into Christian service. This shall be done through the following means:

1. Correspondence courses
2. Ministers’ seminars
3. Resident Bible schools
4. CURSUM, ADVANCE, AMTC

The Continental Director will appoint a director of ministerial training in each of these four areas.

"Operation Timothy" is the funding strategy of our ministerial training program. Sponsors may designate which school or program their monies will support.
Women's Ministries (WM) encourages women to become involved in prayer and giving to missions. This ministry provides ways for women to get involved through the following programs:

1. Missionary Sponsor Program
   The missionary sponsor program assigns missionaries and their families to the various conferences for remembrances on special occasions and for strong prayer support.

2. Christmas 4 Missionaries
   Christmas 4 Missionaries is the new name for the Agnes Robinson Missions Offering. This offering is an annual opportunity for people around the IPHC to help provide a monetary Christmas bonus for full-time and retired missionaries. These funds are sent to the missionaries in late November, but they are received year round and channeled through General Women’s Ministries. These funds are distributed to active and retired missionaries and workers in new fields with Evangelism USA.

3. Blanche King Scholarship Fund
   This fund is designated for scholarships for missionary children who attend Pentecostal Holiness colleges.

4. Sewing Machine Project
   The sewing machine project originated in Zambia and is now moving into other nations. It provides an opportunity for women in the local church to offer ongoing economic opportunities to women in other countries.

5. Oasis
   Oasis is a ministry to female missionaries who return to the United States on furlough. WM groups are asked to stay in touch with their conference World Missions directors to know when missionaries are itinerating in their areas. Oasis provides a time of pampering (manicures, pedicures, new outfits, gift cards, appointments with a hairstylist, etc.), courtesy of Women’s Ministries.
WORLD INTERCESSION NETWORK (WIN)

WIN is an intercessory prayer ministry sponsored by the International Pentecostal Holiness Church. This ministry arm was organized in 1982 to challenge, train, and encourage individuals in the ministry of prayer.
